

The McChord Way...Excellence, Innovation, Respect

62 AW/CC Roll Call

23 Nov 2015

Team McChord,

The tragic terrorist attacks in Paris are a reminder that we must all remain vigilant of our surroundings and not become complacent in our day-to-day routines. The unpredictable nature of terrorists and the devastation they cause means we need to be alert and paying attention to what's going on around us, and reporting any suspicious activity to the appropriate authorities. With the holidays coming up, this is true now more than ever.

While enjoying the holiday season this year, remember that areas where large crowds gather or where events are taking place may be attractive targets to our enemies. Holiday events have been targets in the past, so it's important to stay informed of current events and avoid areas that are reported as potential threats.

If you plan to travel this season, especially overseas, make sure you aware of the threat level at your destination. Also make sure a family member or friend is aware of your travel plans. You can also check travel.state.gov for up-to-date travel warnings.

It is also extremely important that we all practice good OPSEC, especially online. Avoid posting any details about your day, such as where you are going and what time you are leaving. Think before posting. Even if your social media profile is set to private, you have to assume that everyone can see what you are posting.

These are just a few of the many steps we can take to ensure we all enjoy a safe holiday season. For more information go to <http://www.dhra.mil/perserec/osg/t5terror/intro.htm>.
